

Senior EPA officials have told the Committee that after the agency concluded in December that CO<sub>2</sub> emissions were a danger to the United States and proposed significant cuts in motor vehicle emissions, the agency's regulatory efforts were halted.

Documents and Links

- Letter to EPA Administrator Johnson